

NOCHEs INFINITAS

Never-ending Nights

I will have to lower my standards my happiness, my craving for life and my desire I will have to tell myself a lie or two so at the end of the day I can find some comfort

I will have to learn how to get used to it how to bullfight sadness and sorrow and I will have to deal with the fact that nothing is what it used be on the edge of the abyss of your absence

I will have to deal with your departure, my love we won't walk together anymore I know there is a desert of never-ending nights that I will have to cross without you

I will have to learn to remember you without succumbing to this sorrow and accept that nothing is what it used to be on the edge of the abyss of your absence